Re: Financial Fair – “What’s in Your Wallet?”

Prairie View A&M University encourages its faculty and staff to establish a holistic work/life balance to include financial wellness. In an effort to generate awareness about the financial services and investment opportunities available to employees, the Office of Human Resources and Fiscal Affairs will host the University’s First Financial Fair in the Memorial Student Center Ballroom on April 24, 2007 from 9:00 am to 4:00 pm.

The theme for the Financial Fair is “What’s in Your Wallet?” The financial fair will have numerous financial investment companies and banks providing information and generating awareness about the services they offer. Featured companies include: AIG, American Funds, TIAA-CREF, ING, Wells Fargo, Chase and Wachovia Banks. In addition, concurrent information sessions related to financial services and planning for your retirement will be offered each hour for the duration of the fair. Some discussion topics for the sessions are “Managing and Planning Your Investments”, “Budgeting and Handling Your Finances”, “Retirement Planning for Women”, “Identity Theft”, “Banking 101”, “Borrowing Money”, “Establishing Your Credit Score” and many more.

President Wright and the Office of Business Affairs encourage all faculty and staff to attend both the financial fair and informational session of choice. President Wright has approved all employees to have (1 hour) at a time agreed to by his/her supervisor to attend the event. Door prizes will be given away by our featured companies every hour. Attached is the information session schedule to help you identify sessions of interest and to map your day around the financial fair.
