RE: Campus Dial-up Service

Prairie View A&M University has provided off-campus dial-up access via modems to campus computers, but this remote access service evolved to provide Internet access. The vast majority of the campus community has switched to other commercial options over the years, and use off-campus dial-up access via modems has declined dramatically. Because of this decreased usage, Information Technology Services will eliminate dial-up service completely on August 30, 2007. We are providing notice now so that anyone currently using this service will have time to make other arrangements.

Questions about this matter should be addressed to Luis-Pablo Grijalva at X9318 or via email to lpgrjalva@pvamu.edu.
