RE: Personal Protection & Self Defense Seminar

The Office of Business Affairs is pleased to announce that during the Health & Financial Fair, held on November 10, 2009, in the Memorial Student Center Ballroom we will have arranged for Speaker, Author and Personal Protection, safety and self defense expert, Richard Bloom to present some information that could save you or a loved one's life.

Join us Tuesday November 10th at 1 pm in the MSC Ballroom and learn tactics that could save you from being harmed, abducted, raped or even killed. This is a must for the women but necessary for the guys too. Especially since all of us have significant others, wives, daughters, nieces, nephews and female friends that we need to protect and teach this stuff to or use for our own survival. So I recommend that the men attend as well.

Knowing how to react at the one time when your back is against the wall may mean a matter of life or death.

So be sure to attend this seminar this Tuesday and bring some guests with you. We want a great attendance for this one because honestly it may be one of the most important seminars you attend this year. Below are a few videos & links about Richard to set the stage for next week.
