

Certification in Entrepreneurship for Non-Business Majors

The College of Business now offers certification in entrepreneurship for non-business majors. Enroll in just three classes and gain critical skills in the areas of business that will give you a distinct advantage over the rest of the competition. Contact the College of Business today at 936-261-9200 or cob@pvamu.edu for more information on how to enroll and take the first steps towards being a successful business owner.

Why Your Own Business?

Small businesses create new opportunities - especially for women and minorities. Women own more than a quarter of all businesses, and the number of women-owned businesses is growing. That's the good news.

Now for the bad news. Nearly one million new businesses are started every year in the US and more than 50 percent of these businesses will fail in the first year; 95 percent will fail within five years. Prairie View A&M University has a number of entrepreneurially-minded undergraduates in a wide range of majors. Even if you don't want to be your own boss, let's face it, regardless of the college major, almost everyone ends up in business (nurses, teachers, lawyers, journalists, engineers, architects, and so forth). Why not begin to prepare now to be successful?
