The English Program requires the senior-level Special Topics in English capstone course so that you will "demonstrate capacity to bring information, skills, and ideas acquired from the English major and various cirricula to bear on a major project." The course is designed to provide you with an opprtunity to synthesize your growing understanding of language, literature, and compostion and to move beyond the content of such courses to an understanding of the theoretic assumptions underlying that content. Keep your written work over the semesters to make compiling this portfolio easy when the time comes. This portfolio will be used to help the English Program assess its own strengths and weaknesses. Because this is an ePortfolio, you will have access to it for job-market interviews or graduate school.
