Prairie View subscribes to many general databases, covering a wide variety of subject areas. However, no matter how comprehensive they are, it is simply impossible to have everything in one database.

That is why some databases are targeted towards specific subjects and limit their content in other areas. Because they are not widely known or used, it can be difficult to know which database is for your class. We list here some of the subject specific databases you might not be aware of. For assistance in using them, or for other databases and resources in the same area, contact the reference desk.
