Texas Education Agency Educator Preparation Programs

The rating of the Whitlowe R. Green College of Education Educator Preparation Programs has fluctuated in its accreditation over the years. For the period 2009-2013 the Texas Education Agency (TEA) has rated the college's Educator Preparation Programs accredited and accredited with warning.

For the 2008-2009 academic school year, the numbers of completers for the college were 499. However, the accreditation status was accredited but with an action plan. Although there were 284 finishers for the 2009-2010 academic school year, the college was given accredited status but under warning. There was however, an improvement in the overall ratings for the 2010-2011 academic year. For this performance, the college was given a 96% rating and was again accredited.

There were a total of 113 female completers with a 95% pass rate and 27 males with 100% pass rate. Of the 140 completers from the Whitlowe R. Green College of Education, 119 were African Americans, which recorded a 95% pass rate while 11 completers were White students that recorded a 100% pass rate. The other 10 completers were Hispanics and other ethnic groups.