

quarantine & isolation process

Residents exposed to or have tested positive for COVID-19 are required to self-isolate for 10-days. Residents may isolate on-campus in Temporary Housing or return home during this period. It is expected that all students adhere to all COVID-19 safety guidelines to avoid removal from on-campus housing or the student conduct process.

For information about PVAMU's COVID-19 response, please visit www.pvamu.edu/coronavirus/

- A Public Health Officer will active the isolation and social tracing process after a positive finding of COVID-19.
- Most students will receive their results before the university is notified. We encourage everyone to contact the COVID-19 Hotline at 936.261.9000 as soon as they receive notice of a positive result or told to have been exposed to the virus.
- The university will contact the student to confirm their COVID-19 status and begin the isolation and quarantine period. It is expected that a student maintains an open line of communication throughout the process. This includes, responding to all emails, voice and text messages, and phone calls.
- Additional resources like transportation to Temporary Housing, meal delivery service (those with an active Dining Service meal plan), trash pickup, and assistance with other individual needs will be provided. Services and support may be limited throughout the semester due to safety, a reduction in staff, or closures.
- Students are encouraged to work with loved ones to confirm their isolation and quarantine plan prior to the start of the semester.