

PRAIRIE VIEW A&M UNIVERSITY

Curriculum Vitae

Faculty Name:	Kwaku Addo	Work Address:	P.O. Box 519; MS 1060 Prairie View, TX 77446
Position Title:	Associate Director for Academic Programs and Department Head
Office Location:	305 Agriculture-Business Building
Office Phone:	936-261-2505
Email Address:	kwaddo@pvamu.edu
Education:	Degree and Area of Study	Institution Name	Degree Date
	Ph.D. - Food Science	Washington State University	1990
	M.S. - Biochemistry	University of Idaho	1987
	B.S. – Biochemistry	University of Science & Technology	1979
Teaching Experience	Position Title	Institution Name	Position Dates (Beginning and End)
	Professor	Prairie View A&M University	10/2013 - present
	Associate Professor	University of Kentucky	7/1997 – 9/2013
	Assistant Professor	University of Kentucky	8/1991 – 6/1997
Professional Publications:	K. Miller-Spillman and K. Addo. (2012). Clothing and Textiles Opportunities in Ghana: A Study Tour of Cultural Experiences. Journal of Family and Consumer Sciences. 104(2):13-18
	T.J. Stephenson, L. Stephenson, K. Addo, and J.H. Johnson. Recipe Development Project: A Successful Integration of Undergraduate Service Learning and Extension Programming at the University of Kentucky. (2010). North American Association of Teachers and Colleges of Agriculture Journal.54:63
	K.K. Agyare, K. Addo, and Y.L. Xiong. (2009). Emulsifying and Foaming Properties of Hydrolyzed Wheat Gluten Treated with Microbial Transglutaminase. Food Hydrocolloids. 23(1):72.
	Y.L. Xiong, K.K. Agyare, and K. Addo. (2008). Hydrolyzed Wheat Gluten Suppresses Transglutaminase-mediated Gelation but Improves Emulsification of Pork Myofibillar Protein. Meat Science. 80:535.
	K.K. Agyare, Y.L. Xiong, and K. Addo. (2008). Influence of Salt and pH on the Solubility and Structural Characteristics of Transglutaminase-treated Wheat Gluten Hydrolysate Food Chemistry. 107:1131-1137.
Additional Trainings/Skills:	Participant - J.B. Cummins Publishers' Workshop on the Use of Technology in Nutrition Education. San Francisco, CA – March 2003 & March 2005		