CURTIS TOLER, a Chicago native and former leader of one of the city's most notorious street gangs, serves as Director of Outreach for Chicago Cred (<https://www.chicagocred.org/>). He is committed to impacting the culture of violence in Chicago by linking at-risk young men with chances to reset their lives through job training and permanent employment opportunities. Before joining CRED, Curtis was a gang intervention specialist and a spokesman for the peacemakers at the Faith Community of St. Sabastian's Church.
