The General Studies degree is a customized set of study that allows the student to pursue an academic program that fits their educational, and career goals. Through individualized advising, the program helps students define their educational goals and design multidisciplinary curricula drawing on a variety of course offerings.

The purpose of the degree program is (1) to provide flexibility to students with broad interests, (2) to offer an option to those those with new interests or those changing their majors late in their academic careers, and (3) to maximize opportunities for individuals to pursue graduate studies and advance their careers.
