

PVAMU'S MR. COLLEGE OF NURSING LOOKS TO HELP FILL THE GAP IN THE NATIONAL NURSING SHORTAGE

Jared Fremin is set to graduate on May 14, 2022, in Prairie View A&M University's Panther Stadium.

PRAIRIE VIEW, Texas (May 11, 2022) – At the peak of National Nurses Week, Jared Fermin has been offered five positions ahead of his graduation from Prairie View A&M University on Saturday, May 14. He is poised to take on a role as an emergency room nurse. His ultimate goal is to become an ER or trauma unit nurse practitioner and open his own clinic.

During his time at PVAMU, Jared made sure he integrated himself into the campus and nursing communities. He volunteered in last spring's COVID-19 vaccine drive, joined the Prairie View Student Nursing Association, and, in the same semester, was voted Mr. PVSNA. In the Fall of 2021, his classmates elected him Mr. College of Nursing. College of Nursing faculty describe him as "respectful to his peers, faculty and to nursing staff and patients in clinical settings."

"I feel as though my fast-thinking skillset with self-discipline and knowledge in critical care would allow me to be one of the best NPs in the nation," said Jared.

Jared will be accompanied by more than 900 of his peers this Saturday, becoming one of over 80,000 Proud and Productive Panthers.
