The Student Employment Office will only process the employment paperwork for graduate work-study students who are in non-teaching positions. All other graduate positions, including Graduate Assistants, Non-Teaching, who are paid at an hourly rate, will be processed through the Office of Human Resources. Graduate Assistantships are offered at the discretion of the hiring department and will be processed through the Office of Human Resources.

1.4 What is an Intern?

An intern is a student employee who works as an apprentice or trainee in an occupation or profession to gain practical career experience.

1.5 International Students

International students must be advised by the Immigration Services Advisor. For additional information, please contact Immigration Services at immigrationteam@pvamu.edu or 936.261.1730.

1.6 What is Federal Work Study?

The Federal Work-Study (FWS) Program is a government subsidized student employment program designed to assist students in financing their post-secondary education. FWS was created under the Federal Economic Opportunity Act of 1964 to provide part-time employment for college students who qualify through the Federal Financial Aid process. Work-study provides employment positions for undergraduate and graduate students who demonstrate financial need. These earnings assist students with educational expenses. The program encourages work related to their course of study. In order to be eligible for Work-Study, students must document financial need every year by completing the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). A student may then be awarded work-study based on need as defined by federal regulations. State Work- Study is awarded to the Office of Student Financial Aid.

1.7 What is State Work Study?

The Texas College Work-Study (SCWS) program's purpose is to provide part-time jobs to eligible students with financial need to enable them to attend college. Students must be Texas residents and maintain enrollment of at least six (6) credit hours.

State Work-study is made available as part of the student's Financial Aid Package. Students must complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA).

The student's Financial Aid Award Letter will indicate that he/she has been awarded federal or state college work-study. Work-study funds are awarded on a first come, first served basis. Students should complete the FAFSA by the priority date to receive consideration for a work-study award for the following Fall/Spring academic year.

Students may not earn funds in excess of their work-study award. Students who earn their work-study award and want to continue working may do so if they have the employer's consent and are paid with non- work-study funds. The awarded student has the responsibility of finding and securing campus employment. Various offices and departments around campus will post their available openings to the Student Employment Job Board.

1.8 What is Student Hourly?

Student Hourly is an alternative method to provide students with a means of meeting their financial needs. Student hourly is available to students who are not awarded work-study funds, or have officially declined a work-study award. Student Hourly enables the student to acquire valuable work experience and like work-study, student hourly reduces the need for student loans. The program is not federally funded or based on financial need. It is funded by the individual hiring departments.

Unlike work-study, student hourly does not have a set limit to how much a student can earn; the hiring department will decide this based on their budget. Various offices and departments will post available employment positions on the Student Employment Job Board.

3.0 FAQs- FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

1. Why is work-study not counted toward my tuition balance?

Work-study funds are paid out when the student works the contracted hours. In the case of student hourly you do not have to wait for an award notification, you can apply as soon as the position is posted.

5.6 Acceptance & Usage of Work Study Funds and Statement of Debt

Work-study awards are an estimate of the funds you are eligible to receive. The amount of funds you actually earn will be based upon the rate of pay and the number of hours worked. The work-study check should be used to pay fee installments on or before the deadlines set by the Fiscal Affairs Office. If the entire installment is not paid, the Fiscal Affairs Office may assess a late fee. No pending work-study funds shall be used toward future earnings to pay the balance of any installments. Prairie View A&M University will garnish work-study checks to pay any cost of attendance a student may owe.

At the time of hire, all students must provide their supervisor and the SEO with a copy of their work-study award letter, which must be accessed through the Panther Tracks system. All work study awards are granted through the Office of Student Financial Aid and are subject to be cancelled, reduced, or increased at the discretion of the Office of Student Financial Aid per the work study regulations mandated by the Department of Education and the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board. To avoid any departmental chargebacks that may result due to a change in award amount made by the Office of Student Financial Aid, all students must re-print out a copy of their award letter at the beginning of each bi-weekly pay period. The student's hiring supervisor must receive an updated award letter each pay period to ensure that work-study funds are available to cover all prospective earnings within that pay period. All bi-weekly award letter printouts must be retained in the student's internal employment file. If a student has found that a change has been made to his/her original award amount, the student must notify their hiring supervisor and the SEO immediately.

5.7 Employment Conditions for all Federal & Texas Work Study Students

All students receiving work-study awards from the Office of Student Financial Aid may work no more than twenty (20) hours in one week and may continue their employment under a work-study title code until the student's total work-study award has been exhausted. Once the student has earned his/her total work-study award, the student must immediately stop working and is no longer eligible for employment through the work-study program. In addition, the hiring supervisor must ensure that an Employee Wage Request (EWR) has been created to terminate the student's employment from the work study account effective as of the day that the student will have exhausted his/her total work study award allocation.

It is the responsibility of both the student and employer to monitor all earnings made through the work-study program in order to prevent the student from exceeding his/her award allocation. The Time Traq system does not prevent students from entering time once the students' entire award amount has been earned; therefore it is imperative that all work study students and their supervisors use the Work Study Balance Sheet, provided on the SEO website, each pay period to monitor the student's award allocation. Failure to monitor the student's work-study award amount, may lead to costly chargeback's made directly to the hiring department.

5.8 Departmental Chargeback

Hiring departments are responsible for paying 100% of all funds that their work-study students earn in excess of their award amounts. If for any reason, a work study student's hiring department approves time through the Time Traq system which results in an overpayment being made to the student in excess of the total award amount, SEO will notify the student's hiring supervisor and the department head in writing detailing the amount of the total payment that must be returned to the work study account. The department will have a total of five (5) business days to ensure that an EWR is routing for the purpose of retroactively transferring the student to the Student Hourly title code effective as of the date that student exhausted his/her work study award.

Unearned Work Study Funds: Un-used funds are returned to the federal or state work-study accounts.

5.9 HIV/AIDS in the Workplace Learning Environment Policy

In addition, member human resources offices can counsel employees on benefit coverage and leave availability. Employees and students may also be referred to the Texas HIV/STD Info Line for more information on HIV/AIDS and services such as testing and treatment providers.

7.1 Based on the Federal Privacy Act, the Americans with Disabilities Act, as amended, the Texas Commission on Human Rights Act and the Texas Communicable Disease Prevention and Control Act, any medical documentation or information provided by an HIV-infected employee or student to medical or management personnel must be considered confidential and private information. As such, employers are forbidden by law to disclose this information without the employee's knowledge and written consent, except as provided by law.

5.10 Alcohol & Drug Abuse and Rehabilitation

The provisions of this regulation are based on requirements of federal and state law. Administrators should exercise caution in all matters relating to this regulation, ensuring that procedures are carefully followed and that substantial evidence from reliable sources supports a decision to counsel or test a student or an employee for drug use. The TAMUS Office of General Counsel (OGC) must be informed by the appropriate administrator of possible violations of this regulation and advice of an OGC attorney must be secured before testing anyone due to reasonable suspicion of drug or alcohol use or abuse. Advice of the OGC is not needed for required testing as described in Section 6, and the general counsel may waive the requirement to seek OGC's advice for reasonable suspicion testing when a System component shows

How to Be an Active Bystander

Bystanders play a critical role in the prevention of sexual and relationship violence. They are “individuals who observe violence or witness the conditions that perpetuate violence. They are not directly involved but have the choice to intervene, speak up, or do something about it.”¹ We want to promote a culture of community accountability where bystanders are actively engaged in the prevention of violence without causing further harm. We may not always know what to do even if we want to help. Below is a list² of some ways to be an active bystander. Further information regarding bystander intervention may be found. If you or someone else is in immediate danger, dial 911. This could be when a person is yelling at or being physically abusive towards another and it is not safe for you to interrupt.

1. Watch out for your friends and fellow students/employees. If you see someone who looks like they could be in trouble or need help, ask if they are ok.
2. Confront people who seclude, hit on, try to make out with, or have sex with people who are incapacitated.
3. Speak up when someone discusses plans to take sexual advantage of another person.
4. Believe someone who discloses sexual assault, abusive behavior, or experience with stalking.
5. Refer people to on or off campus resources listed in this document for support in health, counseling, or with legal assistance.

Risk Reduction

With no intent to victim blame and recognizing that only abusers are responsible for their abuse, the following are some strategies to reduce one's risk of sexual assault or harassment (taken from Rape, Abuse, & Incest National Network, www.rainn.org)

1. Be aware of your surroundings. Knowing where you are and who is around you may help you to find a way to get out of a bad situation.
2. Try to avoid isolated areas. It is more difficult to get help if no one is around.
3. Walk with purpose. Even if you don't know where you are going, act like you do.
4. Trust your instincts. If a situation or location feels unsafe or uncomfortable, it probably isn't the best place to be.
5. Try not to load yourself down with packages or bags as this can make you appear more vulnerable.
6. Make sure your cell phone is with you and charged and that you have cab money.
7. Don't allow yourself to be isolated with someone you don't trust or someone you

² Bystander intervention strategies adapted from Stanford University's Office of Sexual Assault & Relationship Abuse

- don't know.
8. Avoid putting music headphones in both ears so that you can be more aware of your surroundings, especially if you are walking alone.
 9. When you go to a social gathering, go with a group of friends. Arrive together, check in with each other throughout the evening, and leave together. Knowing where you are and who is around you may help you to find a way out of a bad situation.
 10. Trust your instincts. If you feel unsafe in any situation, go with your gut. If you see something suspicious, contact law enforcement immediately (local authorities can be reached by calling 911 in most areas of the U.S.).
 11. Don't leave your drink unattended while talking, dancing, using the restroom, or making a phone call. If you've left your drink alone, just get a new one.
 12. Don't accept drinks from people you don't know or trust. If you choose to accept a drink, go with the person to the bar to order it, watch it being poured, and carry it yourself. At parties, don't drink from the punch bowls or other large, common open containers.
 13. Watch out for your friends, and vice versa. If a friend seems out of it, is way too intoxicated for the amount of alcohol they've had, or is acting out of character, get him or her to a safe place immediately.
 14. If you suspect you or a friend has been drugged, contact law enforcement immediately (local authorities can be reached by calling 911 in most areas of the U.S.). Be explicit with doctors so they can give you the correct tests (you will need a urine test and possibly others).
 15. If you need to get out of an uncomfortable or scary situation here are some things that you can try:
 - a. Remember that being in this situation is not your fault. You did not do anything wrong, it is the person who is making you uncomfortable that is to blame.
 - b. Be true to yourself. Don't feel obligated to do anything you don't want to do. "I don't want to" is always a good enough reason. Do what feels right to you and what you are comfortable with.
 - c. Have a code word with your friends or family so that if you don't feel comfortable you can call them and communicate your discomfort without the person you are with knowing. Your friends or family can then come to get you or make up an excuse for you to leave.
 - d. Lie. If you don't want to hurt the person's feelings it is better to lie and make up a reason to leave than to stay and be uncomfortable, scared, or worse. Some excuses you could use are: needing to take care of a friend or family member, not feeling well, having somewhere else that you need to be, etc.
 16. Try to think of an escape route. How would you try to get out of the room? Where are the doors? Windows? Are there people around who might be able to help you? Is there an emergency phone nearby?
If you and/or the other person have been drinking, you can say that you would rather wait until you both have your full judgment before doing anything you may regret later.

12.0 UNDERSTANDING YOUR DEPARTMENT

Orientation is a time to welcome and introduce new student workers to your area and should consist of two parts:

1. General Overview of the Department's Structure and Organization
2. General Overview of Employer's Expectations, Rules, Policies

12.1 General Overview of The Department's Structure and Organization

During the first part of orientation give the students a general overview of the job and the unit, and other information that will help them feel comfortable in their new work environment. For example, show them where the rest room, water fountain, and vending machine are located. Show them where to put their personal belongings and where their workstations will be. Introduce them to the other employees in the area and give them a brief explanation of what each person does. Students will usually be more enthusiastic about their jobs and take pride in their work, if they understand how their job performance affects the office.

12.2 General Overview of Employer's Expectations, Rules, and Policies

The second part of the orientation should be spent outlining what you expect of your student employee. Prepare a general form containing the information listed below, include the supervisor's and back-up supervisor's names and telephone numbers. Preparing a general form will save you the time of preparing for each individual student. Keep the form as general as possible (i.e., do not mention names; instead refer to position titles) and simply revise it when changes occur). For example:

1. Outline their duties and responsibilities.
2. List office rules and regulations.
3. List grounds for disciplinary action.
4. Discuss dress code, if any.
5. Explain how to arrange for time off.
6. Explain whom to call if they are unable to work because of sickness.
7. Explain when and how their performance will be evaluated.
8. Make up a work schedule for them.
9. Confirm hourly rate of pay and duration of employment.
10. If the student needs to change his schedule, explain the procedure to be followed.

12.3 Training

While it is often difficult to find the time away from your work to spend training your new employees, it is important. Things that seem very simple and obvious to you may seem confusing to the student. Remember, you may do these procedures every day, but it is new for the person you are training.

Explain procedures in a clear and concise manner. Provide written documentation to assist the student in following the proper steps and procedures. Ask questions to ensure both you and the student has the same understanding of what is required to complete his/her assignments.

Student employees are paid for completing their assigned State Mandated Trainings. In order for the student employee to be paid for training, they must complete the state mandated trainings at their assigned work location during scheduled work hours only.

Key areas to cover are telephone etiquette, office protocol for requesting excused absences or reporting absences due to illness, requesting adjustments in work schedule, familiarizing the student with the staff and their duties, the supervisor's role within the office and procedures for any forms required as a part of performing the student's normal duties.

13.0 PAY PROCEDURES AND TIMESHEETS

1. Student employees are paid biweekly. Time earned must be entered into TimeTraq according to the established schedule distributed at the beginning of the fiscal year by the Payroll Office. It is the responsibility of the supervisor to ensure that the student's time is correctly entered and approved according to the established schedule.
2. Supervisors may maintain an internal record of time worked, if necessary, based on the department's preference. However, all departments are required to ensure time is recorded in TimeTraq by their students and approved by the respective supervisor prior to the time payroll is run. Furthermore, the department budget approver and/or designee must send the approved adloc(s) to payroll prior to each payroll submission date established by Payroll Services.
3. Students are not permitted to work simultaneously through any student employment programs or the University.
4. Students are not permitted to work more than eight (8) hours per day or twenty (20) hours per week.
5. Students are not permitted to work during normal class time.
6. Work-Study students are not permitted to work beyond the total amount awarded per semester.
7. Supervisors are responsible for ensuring all time entered is accurate and accountable, meaning the student has legitimately worked to earn the hours, the time has been monitored on a daily basis for accuracy, and the time is entered according to the established deadlines to ensure accurate payment.
8. Supervisors should monitor the students' hours earned to ensure they do not exceed the total amount allocated for the semester of their work-study award. The hiring department is responsible for any overages that are incurred.
9. Time must be approved in TimeTraq no later than 12:00pm according to the Biweekly Pay Schedule. Time submitted after the due date/time will result in corrective action and may lead to termination/suspension from the student employment programs.

13.1 TimeTraq Entry Notes

- Once the student's time is in approval stage only a supervisor can correct the times.
- Make sure you do not enter any class schedule conflicts.
- Students must submit their timesheets by the established deadlines or risk not receiving a paycheck until the next biweekly pay cycle.

13.2 Security is Everyone's Business

- Do not share your password or security question with anyone.
- Do not leave your computer unattended if you are still logged into the system.
- Lock your computer when leaving the workstation.

14.0 WORK PERFORMANCE

14.1 Documentation

Keep a personnel file for each student employee with the record of hours earned, documentation of performance, documentation of attendance reminders, and any incidents of poor performance, habitual tardiness and/or absenteeism, insubordination, or mischief. Also, the supervisor should document work performance that excels in timeliness, productivity, creativity, and leadership. It is recommended you retain these records for two years.

14.2 Evaluations/Surveys

A formal evaluation is recommended, but not required at the end of each semester. Evaluations should provide constructive feedback on work performance. They should not reflect personal prejudice, bias, or favoritism on the part of the supervisor for the rating or review. Evaluations should not be a surprise to student employees. It should be a recap of the student's performance for the current academic year.

Evaluations can be a positive means to assist the supervisor in improving the student worker's job performance. They afford supervisors the opportunity to clarify what they expect of the student worker in attaining the goals of the department. Remember performance is being measured, not the student worker's value as a person.

Students are also given the option to complete a survey on their experience as student worker. Student and/or supervisor surveys are conducted to:

1. Discover what's going on- In a non-threatening survey environment, the University will learn what motivates survey respondents and what is important to them.
2. Provide an opportunity to discuss key topics with the target population – Communicating with respondents about your survey topic allows for deep insight into the survey problem, and can shed some light on topics related to the survey problem within a larger context.
3. Prioritize your actions based on objective data - rather than relying on subjective "gut" feelings, information can be gathered to make sound data-driven decisions. Therefore, the issues most important can be addressed immediately, rather than wasting resources on things that may not be a priority or critical.
4. Provide a Benchmark- Surveying provides a "snapshot" of the target population and their attitudes about the survey problem. This helps establish a baseline from which one can compare whether target population attitudes and perceptions relative to the survey problem are getting better or worse over time.

To preserve the anonymity of the student worker conducting the evaluation, the survey does not require any signatures or names.

14.3 Disciplinary Action

The Student Employment Office expects student employees to support the standards of conduct which are essential to the values of the university and to work according to the highest ethical standards. University student employees have a responsibility to respect and support the university and co-workers. Student employees are expected to interact with faculty, staff, students, residents of the community and potential PVAMU students in a manner which reflects the university's endeavor to create an environment of respect and service.

Prairie View A&M University is an 'at will' employer, and at any time can choose to discontinue a student's employment with or without cause. In most cases, the formal disciplinary procedures will be followed when disciplining a student employee; however, depending on the nature of the offense, a department may choose to terminate the student immediately before a student has received any form of discipline.

In cases where disciplinary action is required due to unsatisfactory work performance, attendance, misconduct, or the student employee fails to meet the expectations of the hiring department, the Student Employment Office strongly recommends that necessary steps be taken to help the student fully understand his or her area(s) of weakness, with a goal toward helping the student grow and develop in the workplace.

The goal of the hiring department should be to foster constructive feedback and to identify the specific areas of performance in need of improvement. This process should include proposed resolutions and objectives, including a timeframe for identified improvement.

The Student Employment Office recommends that the hiring department:

- a. Meet with the student to review his or her job description and expectations the first week of hire.
- b. Periodically acknowledge to the student the task the student has performed well and address the areas where the student needs improvement.
- c. Discuss corrective steps which need to be addressed, including a timeframe for improvement.
- d. Properly document all meetings.
- e. Provide the student with documentation clearly stating problem areas.
- f. Discuss the consequences should the student fail to meet the expectations at the end of the allotted timeframe.

During the orientation, include a discussion of offenses that require disciplinary action, and the procedure that will be followed if the offenses occur.

14.4 Offenses That May Require Disciplinary Action

- Excessive tardiness
- Excessive absences
- Absent without a legitimate excuse
- Sloppy or unclean appearance
- Carelessness or lack of attention that results in injury to property, self, or others
- Inability to provide accurate, up-to-date information to the public

- Inappropriate behavior of misconduct
- Discourtesy or failure to work harmoniously with fellow employees
- Failure to serve the public with courtesy
- Sleeping on duty

14.5 Preceding Offenses Will Be Subject To The Following:

1. First Occurrence – verbal reprimand
2. Second Occurrence – written reprimand
3. Third Occurrence – discharge

14.6 Verbal Warnings

On the first violation of a rule, work performance, misconduct, or other student employee responsibility, verbal coaching and counseling is normally sufficient to correct the problem.

14.7 Written Warning and Performance Plan

If the misconduct continues and the verbal coaching/counseling has not been effective, or if the seriousness of the offense demands stronger disciplinary actions, the supervisor must provide the student with a written reprimand. The written reprimand must be discussed with the student and include a performance plan, with a timeline of monitoring improvement. The documentation should be dated and signed by the supervisor. The student has an option to sign, if in agreement, or to not sign and attach comments to the written warning and performance plan. The original copy of this document should be sent to the Student Employment Office and a copy be given to the student and retained by the supervisor. A Written Warning and Performance Plan should include the following information:

- a. State explicitly the inappropriate job-related conduct or unacceptable job performance of the student employee;
- b. Describe any previous efforts through verbal warnings to make the student employee aware of the need for change in conduct or job performance pertinent to the situation of event;
- c. State specifically what corrective performance measures are expected, and within what timeframe;
- d. Specify the adverse personnel actions the student employee may expect to be taken by the supervisor.

Notes

15.0 STUDENT EMPLOYMENT TERMINATION

15.1 Termination

A student employee's supervisor may terminate employment if the student has failed to fulfill the responsibilities discussed during the first week of hire. The hiring department is responsible for proving adequate cause for dismissal. The supervisor seeking to terminate a student employee must keep documentation of all conversations or conferences with the employee, as well as a record of incidences with dates and times. Infractions which result in immediate termination may include but are not limited to:

- a. Theft
- b. Falsifying time cards or other university documents or records
- c. Intoxication and/or Drugs
- d. Insubordination
- e. Engaging in acts of dishonesty, fraud, or sabotage
- f. Unauthorized disclosure of confidential information or records
- g. Violations of FERPA or HIPPA
- h. Accepting and Using Access Codes not assigned to student employee
- i. Inaccurately entering work hours into the Time Traq System continuously

Student employees may be terminated if their performance is deficient or if their behavior does not merit continued employment. Supervisors are encouraged to give the student opportunity to correct his or her deficiencies prior to termination. There are two types of terminations: (1) the student may voluntarily terminate their employment and (2) the hiring department may initiate involuntarily termination. Student will not be permitted to change jobs in the middle of a semester. Students may choose to leave their current position but will have to wait until the following semester to be rehired in another department.

1. Involuntary Termination is a severance from employment due to the independent exercise of the hiring department (supervisor) to terminate employment due to poor work performance or any of the items listed below:
 - a. Does not perform his/her job duties in a satisfactory manner
 - b. Is excessively tardy or absent
 - c. Demonstrates a poor work ethic or attitude
 - d. Has committed a major offense such as theft, insubordination, gross misconduct, etc.
2. Voluntary Termination is when a student worker decides to leave employment for any reason based on their own decision. Students are required to provide their hiring supervisors with appropriate written notification whenever they find it necessary to terminate their current employment. It is preferred that all student employees provide their supervisor with at least one (1) week notice prior to resigning from their position. In addition, the supervisor should complete a Student Employment Performance Review Form for the student and submit it to the SEO along with the other documents (See Student Employment Evaluations). Voluntary termination may include any of the items listed below:

- a. Student worker changing job locations
- b. Student worker job dissatisfaction
- c. Student worker transferring schools or graduating (end of term)

All hiring departments should follow the following procedure when terminating a student employee:

- Complete an Employee Wage Request
- Include on the EWR in the justification box the student is being terminated and detailed documentation has been sent to the Student Employment Office.
- Sent SEO any copies of prior written warnings, recent Performance Review forms, and other documentation to support termination.
- An Employee Wage Request to terminate should be created for any Federal Work Study or Texas Work Study student employee who has gone over their entire allocated award amount.
- Although all supervisors reserve the right to terminate a student's employment within their department at any time, any student who feels that he/she has been unjustly terminated will have the option to file a grievance with the Student Employment Office (See Student Employment Grievance Procedure).

16.0 STUDENT EMPLOYMENT GRIEVANCE PROCEDURE

The Student Employment Grievance Procedure statement establishes the process for any complaint by a student employee employed by Prairie View A&M University. However, this procedure does not modify the 'at will' status of the Prairie View A&M University policy for the student employee.

16.1 Employment 'At Will'

All student employee positions at Prairie View A&M University are 'at will,' meaning any student employee may be dismissed from employment with or without cause. Nothing in this regulation shall be interpreted as modifying any student employee's 'at will' status.

Student employees who believe they have been subjected to any form of discrimination or unjust treatment in the work place have the following options:

- The student employee may choose to discuss and resolve the situation directly with alleged offender.
- The student employee may report the incident to the Student Employment Office and request assistance with resolving the situation.

Many problems can be resolved through informal discussions between the student employee and the immediate supervisor, department head or the student employment manager. Although a student employee is encouraged to resolve a complaint informally first, he or she may file a complaint without first seeking informal resolution.

16.2 Filing a Grievance

1. The student files a complaint by completing a Formal Grievance Form <https://www.pvamu.edu/studentemployment/wp-content/uploads/sites/68/Formal-Grievance-Form.pdf> and delivering the form to the Student Employment Office within seven (7) business days of the action which caused the complaint. PLEASE TYPE YOUR INFORMATION IN THE FORM, PRINT, THEN SIGN BY HAND. A complaint delivered to the student employment office later than seven (7) business days of the action which caused the complaint will be deemed untimely filed and will be dismissed.
2. The Student Employment Office is available to answer questions regarding the grievance form and to provide assistance as needed. The Student Employment Office will coordinate the investigation of the complaint. The Student Employment Manager will retain the original grievance form and forward copies of the complaint to the supervisor, department head, complainant, and the Director of Human Resources, within five (5) business days.
3. The Student Employment Manager, along with an additional representative from the Office of Human Resources will review the complaint and provide a written decision to the supervisor, department head, complainant, and the Director of Human Resources, within fifteen (15) business days after receipt of the Formal Grievance Form. This decision will serve as the final decision on the complaint.

The Student Employment Office is designed to handle any employment related issues student employees may experience while employed by Prairie View A&M University. Students are encouraged to notify the Student Employment Office of any incidents which they feel qualify as forms of discrimination, or of any situation they believe are unethical. Students with complaints regarding sexual harassment and or types of discrimination can file their grievance with the Office of Equal Opportunity Employment (EOE) <http://www.pvamu.edu/print/929.asp>.

The Student Employment Office will act as the mediator between students and supervisors, and will work to resolve any employment related grievances. Students should use the Formal Grievance Form to file a complaint through the Student Employment Office.
