

The PVAMU student Gmail migration to Office 365 will be completed next week!

Greetings!

The migration from Gmail to Office 365 is nearly complete, and students already have access to their Outlook (@pvamu.edu) account at www.office.com. Starting today, Friday April 2, 2021 at noon, students will no longer be able to use their PVAMU Gmail account to send and receive emails as we finish migrating student emails to Microsoft O365.

Over the weekend, during the final steps of the migration from Gmail to Office365, there may be times that emails sent to @student.pvamu.edu will take longer to be available in student Outlook inboxes.

Students can download the Outlook App from the Google or Apple App stores. (Their new Outlook calendar will sync best with the Outlook App.)

Anything sent to @student.pvamu.edu account will forward for now; however, starting today we ask that everyone transition to sending email communications to students using @pvamu.edu.

Although students will retain access to their Google Drive, now is a good time to clean out and back up files to ensure they have access to them while we are migrating documents to their new Microsoft OneDrive.

We communicated with students by SMS and email to inform them of our progress. If you have questions, please reply to this email.
