What is insubordination in the workplace and how will it be defined and perceived in the John B. Coleman Library? ... Summary Information

In the Hours Summary section, this screen displays a summary of both the hours reported on a Timesheet in the various categories of time, including regular work, leave, holidays, on call time/callback work (if relevant), and unpaid time. This is displayed for information only - no changes can be made on this screen.

In the Estimated Pay Summary section, TimeTraq displays a summary of standard rate hours, overtime hours, and, if relevant, on call units. TimeTraq also uses the position's current rate of pay to estimate the gross pay generated by the Timesheet.

NOTE: The actual amount to be paid is not finalized until the Timesheet is sent to BPP by the payroll approver.

Comp. Time

When a Timesheet reflects state or FLSA overtime, the extra hours worked must either be banked as comp. time or paid by BPP. Whether overtime will be banked or paid is a decision made by the central and department administrators. TimeTraq will automatically assign the overtime hours using the rule configured by the administrators.

NOTE: The administrators can also allow the employee to decide how the overtime should be disposed of. As shown in the sample screen above, the overtime can be allocated between banked hours and paid hours using this screen.

Certifying the Timesheet

It is important to realize that submitting a timesheet means that you are certifying its accuracy, just as a physical signature on a paper timesheet has done in the past. TimeTraq logs all submissions to ensure a complete audit trail of actions taken against a Timesheet.

Managers and administrators who submit timesheets on behalf of employees have the same responsibility to ensure a timesheet's correctness. In addition, managers and administrators must enter a comment regarding the action being taken.

Actions

To change the overtime disposition, update the Bank Hours and Pay Out Hours fields in the State and FLSA Overtime categories as needed. Then, to recalculate the timesheet's estimated gross pay, click the button. This action takes into account changes in the overtime disposition and calculates a new estimated gross pay amount.

Recalculate Gross Pay

- Note that this command is only available when the adloc and job settings allow free-form overtime allocation.

To submit the timesheet to the department's payroll administrators, certify the timesheet's accuracy, enter your comments (if required), and click the button.

- After submission, the timesheet will go to the employee's manager(s) for approval.
- The timesheet can be recalled and updated until it has been approved by the (next) manager of the employee's job.
- After the timesheet is submitted, you'll be taken to the Timesheet Overview screen where the timesheet will be shown in a Submitted status.

To cancel the submission process, click the Return to Timesheet.

JOHN B. COLEMAN LIBRARY POLICIES

LIBRARY USE POLICY

Purpose: The John B. Coleman Library is committed to maintaining an environment conducive to study and research in order to fulfill its role of supporting the University's educational mission. The Library is open to the general public and expects users to conduct themselves in a manner respectful of other library users, staff, materials, and facilities. The Library abides by all pertinent Chapters, Sections and Appendices of the Prairie View A&M Student Handbook, related to policies on student conduct, disciplinary proceedings, sanctions, harassment, and disruptive activities. To ensure a quiet, pleasant, safe, clean, and respectful atmosphere for both library users and staff, the Library has established the following policies regarding the use of its facilities and collections. Signage pertaining to this policy is posted throughout the Library. Copies of the policy are available upon request at all service desks on the First Floor, and on the Library website. The policy shall apply to all library users, regardless of their affiliation with the University, i.e. student, faculty, staff, or community borrower. The library staff is responsible for administering policies. It is expected that staff request for compliance will be immediately and respectfully honored. Questions or complaints should be addressed to the library administration. Depending on the seriousness of the infraction, refusal to comply with policies may result in:

- a request to leave the building
- refusal of future access to the library
- summoning of a security guard and/or university police
- suspension of library privileges
- University conduct hearing under the Student Conduct Code

Conduct and Building Use Policies:

Animals: Only guide dogs or companion dogs that assist people with disabilities are allowed in the Library.

Cameras: Use of photographic or video equipment is restricted. Individuals, classes, groups, or organizations desiring to film the Library or its staff, or users must first get permission from the Library Administration, located on the 2nd floor of the library.

Cell Phones and Pagers: To preserve a quiet study environment, the Library requires library users to set cell phones and pagers on "silent" signals. Cell phone use is not allowed at the tables in study areas, or in the bookstacks, on any floor. If you receive a call or need to make a call, please keep your voice low and move the elevator foyers on each floor, or to the front lobby. However, if complaints regarding excessive noise, are reported by other patrons, you will be asked to either move to other locations, or to end your phone call, or leave the building.

Children: Children cannot be monitored and supervised by library staff. Therefore, children under the age of 14 entering the library must be accompanied and supervised by an adult over the age of 18. Children may not touch library computers or other equipment. Unaccompanied children must produce identification showing they are 14 years old or over. Exception will only be made for children participating in University-sponsored activities scheduled to occur in the library. Parents, guardians, and caretakers are responsible for the conduct of their children on library premises, and must provide close supervision at all times. In cases where children are not closely supervised or library rules are broken, library staff will ask parents or caretakers to take the children out of the building. Staff may contact University Security concerning unsupervised children.

Computers on the First Floor of the Library: Users must follow all Library Computer Use Policies, as posted. Access is limited to searching library resources and the options listed on the screen. All computers have Word and PowerPoint Viewer to edit you need to go to the computer lab on the second floor. No game playing, social media websites, access to DOS, software installation, personal software, word processing, web authoring, or other productivity software are not allowed.

Disruptive Behavior Policy: Complaints of disruptive behavior will be taken seriously and the offending patron may be asked to leave the building. Behavior that interferes with the appropriate use of the Library, or interrupts the learning process for other patrons, exhibits a disregard for the dignity of others, and will not be tolerated. This includes excessive noise, altercations, theft, vandalism, inappropriate sexual behavior, and harassment of any kind. All such activities should be reported immediately to the Circulation Desk on the First Floor, who will contact Campus Security and/or the University Police. Emergency phones connected directly to the Circulation Desk are located in study areas on floors two, three and four. Patrons identified as disruptive will be subject to sanction, including possible expulsion from the Library, University disciplinary action, loss of library privileges, and possible prosecution under state law, as stated in the Prairie View A&M University Student Handbook, 2010-2011.

Noise in the Library is a common cause of complaint. Please be considerate of others. If you can be heard at the next table (or within four feet), you are too loud. Conversations in the foyers, lobbies, halls, or near the Jazzman Cafe, Tutorial Center, or Computer Lab travel to other parts of the Library where other students are trying to concentrate and study. Other "inappropriate" behavior in the Library includes, but is not limited to the following:

- Using audible radios, walkmans, or other sound generating devices
- Using threatening, intimidating or abusive language

Food and Drink: Eating is allowed in the John B. Coleman Library. Please adhere to the sign postings around the library for more information. Encourage library patrons to eat and drink respectfully: Cup lids covered, food disposed, garbage put in trash receptacles.

Name Tags: Students while you are on duty, you need to wear your name tag in visible light. Name tag is available from your immediate supervisor.

Paging Patrons: The Library will use its public address system to page individual patrons only when there is a verifiable medical emergency.

Safety and Security: The Library's goal is always to optimize the safety and security of its users and staff. All statutes, regulations, and laws governing safety and behavior in a facility of the State of Texas, the Texas A&M University System, and the Prairie View A&M campus, will apply. Emergencies should be reported immediately to Library staff. For additional security and safety, all floors, study areas and book stacks of the John B. Coleman Library are monitored by closed-circuit security cameras and monitors. Victims of or witnesses to disruptive behavior, harassment, or crimes in the library should notify the nearest library staff member immediately, for assistance. Students who are off duty, do not be in closed areas behind the desks. Please secure your personal belongings in the appropriate places in your department.

Smoking: Smoking in any part of the John B. Coleman Library is forbidden by law.

Procedure for Library Disruptions: *Library staff members will take appropriate steps to end disruptions, including requesting identification, and involving Campus Security and/or University Police, when necessary. Library staff are authorized to request disruptive patrons to discontinue the behavior and to refer patron to the "written" policy on library conduct. Circulation Department Student Guidelines

A) The process for entering information on the student employee bi weekly timesheet and receiving work assignments:

1) Students sign in/out via entries in a black binder, one time sheet per student, per pay period. The binder is kept in one location, a back room behind the Circulation desk. Additionally, this is where the students lock up their belongings in a cabinet, to which all staff members have a key to lock/unlock it, as needed. Blank time sheets are stored in the binder and each pay period, students pull a blank sheet, fill in the top section with their name and student ID, and enter the time they came to work, left work, and hours worked, for each day in the pay period. At the end of the pay period, the student totals the hours worked and signs the time sheet. The time sheets are filed alphabetically in the black binder.

2) After students clock in on the time sheet, they pick up their name badge from the Circulation desk and are given an assignment to either work an information desk on the 1st or 2nd floor, work the front desk, or work stacks (re-shelving books). Assignments are given to the students by the library staff members. There is an 'assignment sheet' which is used by the staff on duty, in which the student signs their name, the hours they are working and the location of their assignment. The staff on duty uses this sheet to track where everyone is working, and to know where there are openings for students who are just coming in to work. The 'assignment sheet' has the date in the upper left corner and the staff on duty in the right hand side. Each time a staff member rotates off duty, a line is drawn across the sheet and the next staff member's name is added to the sheet above the list of students' names. Students can be moved around as needed to fill in gaps.

3) If students do not show up for work, or call in, they cannot make up their time. A line is drawn on their time sheet through the date when they did not come to work.

Periodicals Department Student Guidelines

Name Tags:

Name tags serve to identify and distinguish ours Student Assistants from the general student patrons. The name tags are kept in a wooden box label “Name Tags” located on the desk near their sign-in sheets. The name tag should be worn during each shift and placed in the name tag box after the shift.

Duties of Student Assistants:

During your work periods you may be assigned to a variety of duties, ranging from assisting library patrons wanting citations to articles, specific journal and newspaper issues to filing the daily mail.

If you are unable to answer a patron's question, a regular staff member should be called in to assist the patron.

Assigned tasks are:

- perform Periodical Desk duties
- assist patrons in the use of on-line databases and finding newspapers/federal documents/microfiche/microfilm/journals on the shelf
- assist patrons in the use of computer equipment, microform reader/printers, and copiers
- document each time you assist a patron on the statistic form “Periodicals Desk Tally” sheet
- keep an account of how many patrons are in the room each hour on the “Head Count” statistic sheet
- add paper to the copiers and reader/printers as needed
- record journal usage statistics in the “Periodicals Use Statistics” black folder and re-shelve used materials
- process of today’s mail-stamping and marking the date on the incoming newspapers and journals
- shelve new materials (today’s mail)
- shelf read at least one hour each day

- general straightening up of the room: pushing chairs to table, pick up used journals, etc.
- keep the Information Desk for 1 hour when assigned
- answering the telephone: say “Periodicals Department, how may I help you?”
- open or close the department
- submit timesheet on Time-Traq
- other tasks as assigned

Questions about work assignments are to be discussed with the department head or designated supervisor.

Work schedule:

- any changes to your work schedule must be pre-approved by the supervisor
- no credit will be given to hours worked outside of your scheduled hours on the “Student Work Schedule” form

Ground for Termination:

- Students who enter false time onto their Sign-in sheet, this will result in termination
- Students who forge a staff member’s initials, this will result in termination
- Students who sign in and leave the department and then come back to sign out, this will result in termination.
- Frequent tardiness, excessive absences, failure to report for work as scheduled, or failure to notify the department of an absence, this can result in termination
- Students who do not do the assigned duties, this can result in termination
- Students who eat or drink at the front desk, this can result in termination
- Students who sleep will on the job, this can result in termination

Steps to Termination:

Step 1: A verbal warning will be given to allow the student to understand and correct the problem. A note of the infraction will go into the student's folder. Failure to correct the problem will result in a written warning.

Step 2: A written warning, copied to the Student Employment Office, will be issued to allow the student to understand and correct the problem. Failure to correct the problem after the written warning is given will result in termination.

Step 3: Paper work will be filed for termination.

Opening Time:

1. Turn both copy machines on, add paper if needed. Extra paper is in the cabinet next to the tall up-right cabinet.
2. Push all chairs up to the tables, pick up any used journals and books, place them on the carts and make the room look neat
3. Collect the newspapers (Houston Chronicle) from Circulation – either at the book drop or under the Circulation's front desk.
4. Process the newspaper:
 - put all sections together
 - place three red lines on the top of the newspaper
 - write the date in the bottom left-hand corner
 - stamp the newspapers with our ownership stamp
 - place today's newspapers over on the Newspaper shelves
 - place the old newspapers on the shelves behind the front desk
5. Take the statistics on any used journals on the cart. Shelf the journals
6. Shelf the mail from the today's mail table
7. Keep the front desk until your shift end

Closing Time:

1. 15 minutes prior to the closing time, start closing down the periodicals room.
2. Straighten up the area and clear the tables of all used materials. Return used books to Reference or Circulation. Reference books are indicated by "Ref" on top of the call number on the spine of the book.
3. Make additional closing announcements as necessary to alert patrons.
4. Turn off all reader/printers.

5. Shut down Windows and choose the Restart option when logging off both desk PCs at the front desk. Do not turn the computers off.
6. Look around the room again at the 5 minute announcement to see if everyone has left the area.
7. When everyone is gone, check the gate counter at the entrance to the department and record the count on the designated form on the bulletin board.
8. Before leaving the building, tell the Circulation Staff that our area is clear of student patrons.

Periodical Materials:

- All journals, federal documents, and newspapers Must Stay in the Periodicals room.
- Only Staff members and Professors may check out materials. They should fill out a “Periodicals Request Slip” for Staff and Faculty. Request slips are in a small flat green box labeled “periodical request slip for staff/faculty” located on the shelves behind the front desk.
- We have a security system that will sound when a patron takes a journal from the room. Ask the patron if they have a book they need to check out? Always stop the patron and find out what they have.

Front Desk:

Only two Student Assistants may work at the same time. The front desk must have at least one student assistant attending to it at all times. It is o.k. to sit at the tables near the front desk and do your work or sit at one of the two computers in the room. Just keep an eye out seeing if anyone needs help. Everyone must stay in the Periodicals room during their shift to get credit for being at work, unless you are keeping the Information desk. Let us know when you are stepping out of the office. We need to be able to find you when we need you.

iPad Check in and Check out Time Service Policy:

Check in and out on the iPad that is located by the second information desk by the elevators. Please make sure to use your appropriate department location when signing in and out of the iPad Time service. Do not sign in and leave the library-go to your supervisor to find out what your job task will be while you are working.

Time Sheet Policy:

Only a library staff member may initial your time sheet each time you arrive and leave from work. Another student worker's initials will not be accepted. No credit will be given to hours worked without a library staff member's initials next to your arrival and leave times. Type on your time sheet with the exact time you arrive and leave from work. Each time take your time sheet to one of these persons on the list below.

TimeTraq:

Timesheets are to be turned in on TimeTraq at 5 pm a day before the due date. You will need to anticipate up to the due date. No TimeTraq will be accepted after 10 am on the day they are due in the main office. No Exceptions! You will need to make arrangements in your schedule and be responsible to submit your timesheets on time.

We recommend that everyone log onto his or her TimeTraq each day to add and save your hours worked for that day. This will make it easier when timesheets are due. When you are adding up the hours worked they must reflect whole hour or quarter hour ONLY. Still sign in on your timesheet with the actual time you arrive and leave each shift. Make the adjustments when you add your hours to TimeTraq. Hours will be rounded up. A helpful tool is the Bi-weekly Time Sheet form found on the Student Employment web-page under Forms. You can type in your hours and it will add them up for you.

Example: You report to work at 10:14 am -12:30 pm
 On TimeTraq: 10:15 am -12:30 pm
 You report to work at 7:55 pm -12:05 am
 On TimeTraq: 8:00 pm -12:00 am

Breaks:

Student Assistants working four hours or more in one shift are permitted to take a break. You must sign out when you leave for your break and sign in when you return. Let your supervisor know that you will be taking your break.

| Hours Worked | Break Time |
|---------------------|-------------------|
| 8 | 1 hour |
| 7 | 45 minutes |
| 6 | 30 minutes |
| 5 | 25 minutes |
| 4 | 15 minutes |

Errands:

Quick errands are permitted during your work shift. You must sign out when you leave for your errand and sign in when you return. This should not become a habit for each shift.

Food:

Food should be eaten before you come to work or during your break. If you need to eat something during your shift, it is better to eat in the back office. No one may eat or drink at the front desk.

Dress Code:

Student Assistants should dress for a business setting but can be casual in appearance. Do not wear these items to work shower like flip-flops or night slipper shoes, no short-shorts, no big armed jerseys that expose your chest, too baggie bottoms that expose underpants and no midriff exposing tops. In addition to these items listed below.

Adapted from an e-mail the Director of Library Services provided on 4/26/2013:

Unacceptable Shirts, Tops, Blouses, and Jackets:

Tank tops; midriff tops; shirts with potentially offensive words, terms, logos, pictures, cartoons, or slogans; halter-tops; tops with bare shoulders; sweatshirts, and t-shirts unless worn under another blouse, shirt, jacket, or dress.

Unacceptable Slacks and Pants:

Jeans- with holes; sweatpants; exercise pants; Bermuda shorts; short shorts; shorts; bib overalls; leggings; and any spandex or other form-fitting pants such as for biking riding.

Unacceptable Skirts and Dresses:

Short, tight skirts that ride halfway up the thigh when sitting, walking, or bending; mini-skirts; sun dresses; beach dresses; and spaghetti-strap dresses.

Unacceptable Shoes and Footwear:

Thongs; flip-flops; slippers; flashy athletic shoes; and any shoe with an “open toe.”

If a student is wearing unacceptable clothing, He or she will be asked to sign out and go home to change clothes. Then they may return to work in clothing that is more appropriate.

Head Phones:

No head phones are allowed during your work shift.

Loud Patrons:

When patrons are too loud with their talking or music ask them quiet down and say, “this is a quiet study area.” When a patron becomes unruly ask a staff member to help you with the patron. When that does not work call the security officer to help with the unruly patron. The number to campus security is 936-261-1375. Or for emergency dial 4911.

Fire Alarm:

When the fire alarm sounds direct our patrons to go out the fire exit door located on the far left hand side of the periodicals room. We have a megaphone you can use to announce the directions. When outside stand by the Chapel until it is safe to return inside the Library.

Procedure for Processing the Newspapers/Journals:Newspapers:

- put all sections together
- place three red lines on the top of the newspapers
- write the issue date of the paper on the bottom left-hand corner
- stamp the newspapers with our ownership stamp
- place the newspapers over on the Newspaper shelves

Why do we process the newspapers this way? The newspapers are stacked on top of each other on the shelves and when the date is on the bottom left hand corner of each newspaper it makes it easier for the patrons and staff to find the date they are looking for without having to dig through the stack of papers. It also keeps the papers more organized.

Journals:

- stamp journals with our ownership/date stamp on the front cover or on the second page of journal when cover is glossy or too dark
- place three red lines on all three sides of each journal
- file the journals on our A-Z journal shelves

Why do we process the journals this way? This identifies the journals and magazines as property of our library.

Questions/Notify:

Always ask questions, no question is silly or dumb. It is better to ask, than to give a wrong answer to a patron. If you see we need something like paper, a new red marker, or the stamps need more ink. Let me know.

STUDENT EMPLOYMENT OFFICE/HUMAN RESOURCES

All students, whether new or re-hired, are required to attend a state mandated Equal Employment Opportunity orientation before the first day of work. If you have any questions, contact the Student Employment Office at 936-261-1793.

ABOUT THE REFERENCE AND INFORMATION SERVICES DEPARTMENT

Reference materials include anything from dictionaries, atlases, phone books and other non-circulating books which contain information on a variety of topics. The depth of coverage ranges from a general overview to more detailed documentation. The Reference Department also has a large legal collection, with both federal and Texas laws.

Increasingly, reference material takes the form of electronic data; databases and screened websites hold a vast number of articles and facts; reference librarians are entrusted to understand these as well.

Reference materials do not leave the building, but they may be taken to other parts of the building; the patron is requested to bring the material back. Office supplies (white-out, scissors, etc.) behind the reference desk may be loaned out, but must be returned. Once lost, these are not replaced

Specific Reference and Information Services Department Duties

There are four Reference Librarians that rotate time at the Reference Information Desk assisting patrons in the use of the Library's resources. Service to library patrons is primary. If the student worker cannot answer a patron's question, they should seek assistance from the Reference Librarian on duty. Student workers help in this process by being responsible for the following:

Monitoring printers and copiers for jams and print errors.
Ensuring print trays and copier are kept fully stocked with paper.

This is important; keep checking the tray volume and restock the paper under the desk when we are down to a few packs of paper.

Clean up around reference area computers (paper, trash, chairs pushed in, etc.) Answering telephone calls.

Should a Reference Librarian not be able to answer the phone for any reason, students are responsible for answering the telephone. Take messages where applicable, and transfer calls where possible. Do not give answers unless you know they are correct!

Answer basic directional questions (Reserve area, bathroom, etc.) Refer any question that you cannot answer to a Librarian.

Be able to help in locating books in the online catalog. Understand and apply ready reference loaning procedure.

Keeping accurate statistics regarding questions answered, ready reference items used and any reference books shelved.

This task is very important; the number of questions answered helps justify hiring students and the books that are shelved help us keep track of which areas in Reference are used the most.

Shelving reference books on re-shelf cart.

Each student worker is assigned at least one (usually two) areas in the Reference Department to shelf read- this is to be continually done; not just when reminded. Books are to be replaced with the spine facing out, and the right side up.

Other clerical duties as periodically assigned.

Should there be any times when you are not busy, inquire if Circulation needs any help with shelving or dusting; this is not a time for homework or Internet use.

HIRING/TRAINING OF STUDENT WORKERS

Initial interviews are to be done with the scheduling supervisor and should include information on duties and possible working hours. An approval from Financial Aid/Work Study (Human Resources) and a class schedule are required at the initial interview. A Certificate of Completion is required before you will be allowed to start work. Working hours for students cannot exceed 80 hours per pay period/ 20 hours per-week. Pay periods run approximately two weeks in length. Student worker's schedules are created in consultation with the scheduling supervisor. There will be no more than one student scheduled at the desk at any given time.

The scheduling supervisor makes the final hiring decision. If the student is approved for hiring, the library administration office handles the final paperwork.

The training coordinator will provide the initial orientation and training as close to the student's first day of work as is possible. The initial orientation and training time will be considered work time. Additional on the job training will be given by a variety of staff members as new duties are introduced.

The initial orientation and training will include:

- 1) Overview of department policies and rules of conduct.
- 2) Orientation to the staff area and introduction to existing staff.
- 3) Description of the basic responsibilities and workflow of the department and a review of the department's opening and closing routines. Included in this is ensuring that the work area is prepared for the next day.
- 4) Explanation of the other service areas of the library.
- 5) Orientation to the shelving arrangements of the various materials.
- 6) Explanation of the Reference Department's collection.
- 7) Explanation of how to lend materials that are shelved in the Ready Reference section (behind the Reference Desk) to borrowers and an overview of circulation policies.
- 8) Orientation to the copier/printers and computer equipment in the department (including how to load papers, where the supplies are stored in the department
- 9) Hands-on training in the use of the library's webpage, online catalog and electronic databases.
- 10) Orientation to Reference Department statistics.
- 11) Instruction on filling out time sheets.

Additional notes:

Schedules for student workers are posted in the department (Schedules changes will be made at the discretion of the scheduling supervisor). You are not permitted to change your schedule whenever you wish.

Sign-in sheets for each student worker will be provided to log the hours worked.

Students will Clock In and Out using the online iPad time Stamp that is located by the information desk and adjacent from the elevators

Students working 4 hours or more are permitted a 15 minute break. Staff should be notified before taking a break.

Students must report any and all absences to departmental staff by calling (936) 261-1535.

For planned and approved absences, hours may be made up at the discretion of the scheduling supervisor.

There may be instances when you are asked to help out at either the Periodicals desk, or the Circulation desk.

Frequent tardiness, excessive absences, failure to report to work as scheduled, or failure to notify the department of your absence can result in termination.

A written warning, copied to the Student Employment Office, will be issued to allow the student to understand and correct the problem. Failure to correct the problem, after the written warning is given, will result in termination.

DRESS CODE, MEALS AND SNACKS

- 1) Student workers must dress appropriately for a business setting and demonstrate a good work ethic.
- 2) Student workers should have a courteous and respectful attitude, as this is a public service setting. Disrespect shown towards a library staff member could be grounds for dismissal.
- 3) There is a dress code that each student receives during training; it is expected that you adhere to it.
- 4) Punctuality, dependability, and cooperation are essential factors in a successful work experience.
- 5) Meals and errands are to be handled before or after scheduled work periods.
- 6) No food or drinks are allowed in the library.

COMPUTER EQUIPMENT USE, TELEPHONES, STUDY TIME

- 1) Telephones, computer equipment and software in the department are intended for business purposes and not for use by students who are not employees.
- 2) Personal use of equipment, such as typing up class assignments, playing games, sending instant messages, chat rooms and checking e-mail is not allowed. This is a work environment, not a place to study. Failure to follow this will result in your termination.
- 3) Computer settings are not to be changed.
- 4) Personal phone calls for student workers are not allowed.
- 5) Cell phones, iPods, and other personal computing items are not permitted while on the job.

“UNDERSTANDING THE LIBRARY OF CONGRESS CLASSIFICATION SYSTEM FOR SHELVING, SHELF-READING AND RETRIEVING "BOOKS

What is the purpose of call numbers?

Each book in the Coleman Library has a unique call number. A call number is like an address: it tells us where the book is located in the library.

How call numbers appear

Note that the same call number can be written from top-to-bottom, or left-to-right.

Coleman Library

Prairie View A&M University's Coleman Library, like many academic libraries in the United States, uses Library of Congress Classification for call numbers. This system uses a combination of letters and numbers to arrange materials by subjects.

HOW TO READ A CALL NUMBER: Library of Congress Classification System

Each book in the library has a unique call number. A call number is like an address: it identifies where the book is located in the library. Call numbers appear on the spine of books, bound periodicals, microfilm, and other items. The UCR Libraries, like many university libraries, uses the Library of Congress Classification for call numbers. This system uses a combination of letters and numbers to arrange materials by subjects, and may appear in two different formats as seen below.

Read a call number by sections, line-by-line:

The first part of a call number contains letters. These letters are read alphabetically:

The second part of the call number contains numbers which are read as a whole number:

This second part of the call number may also contain a decimal component:

The third part is the trickiest part of all. It consists of a single letter and then a sequence of numbers. Items are placed first in alphabetical order by the letter, then numerically according to the sequence of numbers. However, all numbers in this line are treated as if they were preceded by a decimal:

This makes sense if you read the numbers as decimals, because:

The final lines of the call number may include dates, volume indicators, issue numbers, copy numbers, and other annotations. These annotations are read after the call number. Be sure to write down the COMPLETE call number!

Location Prefixes

Some call numbers are preceded by a location prefix indicating that the item is shelved in a specific location and may have loan restrictions. For example:

Ref - Reference item located on the Reference shelves on the 1st floor.

Oversize - Large or oversized items shelved in the Oversize sections on each floor.

How to Find Scholarly/ Peer Reviewed Journal Articles

Journal articles are available in several formats:

- Print journals are available in the Periodicals/Government Documents Room
- Online journals can be located on the Library web page at the “Find Articles” button by accessing one of the full-text databases.
- Microfiche journals can be found in the Periodicals/Government Documents Room
- Bound journals are available in the general collection (Stacks)

Journal titles can be located via:

- The online catalog. Search on “Journal Title.”
- Under “Find Articles,” use the “Find a Journal” and click for further access.

Guide to Searching Databases

- (1) The first step is to recognize that there is no way we could cover how to find articles in every database we have. Thus you’ll have to settle for a guide to searching that is more or less applicable for most of the databases. This should get you started. If you need more help than that, ask a librarian!
- (2) What is a database? It’s a collection of articles from journals and periodicals. For an explanation of these see the “Differences between journal and magazine” section below. Databases take articles from many different sources and compile them into one online source. Most are full-text, but some are not. Some are simply citations and others are citation and abstract.
- (3) Generally, you have the capability to search in these areas: author, title, subject, journal title, date of publication and type of publication (conference, magazine, newspaper, etc.). Let’s go through a select few to get the hang of them.
- (4) Let’s use ProQuest as our example! From the Library’s homepage find the “Find Articles” button and move your cursor over it. Go to “Full Length” and then over to “All Subjects.” Click. Find ProQuest and click that too.
- (5) What you find is a screen with lots of yellow boxes and a golden “continue” button at the top. Let’s take a closer look. These boxes are the smaller databases that ProQuest looks at when searching for you. It automatically uses all of them, but you can, by clicking on the box next to one, exclude it from the search. You will usually not do this, but it’s nice to know you can. So we click “Continue” and move ahead.
- (6) This is a good, simple screen. We can search by “Basic” or “Advanced;” the only difference is that “Advanced” has more than one line for entries. Clicking on “Publications” lets you see if ProQuest has the journal you need, if you are looking for a specific journal. Most databases have this option as well, but it might be called something else: “Journal Search” is common as well, as is “Journal Title.” Look for drop down lists with phrases like “select from a list.”
- (7) If we click the “Topic Guide” button, we get an interesting option. Much like we used a subject search for books, this also tells us that there are specific terms the computer likes to use in this database to find articles. Be aware that the terms used in one database might not always work in others! Also, the terms are not the same as the ones for looking up books. It may seem complicated, but it should start to make sense if you try it out. It's impossible to 'break' a database, so don't be afraid to experiment a little!

- (8) Other databases might use different words to do the same search: "Subject Search," "Subject Guide," "Subject Terms."
- (9) For the difference between a keyword and subject search, see the "Research Help" section of this handbook.

General vs. Specialized Databases

There are general databases that are suitable for all levels of research. Our library also has databases that cater to a specific subject area or discipline. These differ only by scope of content, not depth of coverage.

All databases can be found by going to the “Find Articles” tab on the Library web page, moving the cursor over “Full Length” and then to “All Subjects.” Clicking on “All Subjects” takes you to the general databases such as Ebscohost. Scrolling down shows you the Coleman Library’s databases organized by subject area.

You can also find useful information about subject areas from the Library web page under the “Homework/Assignments” and the “College/Department Resources” tabs. These subject pages will not only give you information about what databases and collections of articles might be most useful, but they will also describe other resources such as reference books and specialized websites. We have looked at many web pages to find the most relevant material.

Full-Text Databases Available

The Library subscribes to numerous databases which contain full-text articles. The Library also subscribes to citation and abstract databases. These (and many other) databases can be accessed under “Find Articles.” Off-campus remote access to full-text databases is also available (see section 9 of the handbook for further instructions). The Information Services staff can help in locating and using these databases. Some of our more popular databases include:

OneSearch/EBSCOHost

Over 10,000 full-text journals and over 15,000 indexed titles. One of the most popular databases, as well as one of the most extensive.

Facts on File/ Issues and Controversies

Up-to-date collection of major news events, searchable by year or decade. Includes reference material.

JSTOR

Full-text access to 117 scholarly journals with searchable archives to the first edition.

LexisNexis

Full-text access to newspaper articles and court cases. Good source for legal research.

Project Muse

Full-text access to 40 Johns Hopkins University Press journals.

ProQuest

Access to full-text journal and newspaper articles. One of the largest databases we have access to, it also organizes articles by subject for easier searching.

ScienceDirect

World’s largest electronic collection of science, technology and medicine full-text and bibliographic information. More than 1,800 journals and 4 million articles.

Evaluation of Websites

First Step:

The first step in this process is to back up and ask the following:

- 1- Why you are looking on the Internet? Entertainment or education?
- 2- If it is education, do you have a clear idea of what information you're looking for, or will you 'know it when you see it'?
- 3- Is there another source that might be more appropriate - books or journal articles?

Second Step:

When evaluating Internet information, keep in mind that it is just another information source, much like books and magazines are. The ways we judge good sites from bad, therefore, will look somewhat familiar. A good way to start is the old journalism 5 W's:

Who, what, when, where, why (and how)

Who

- Who is the author? Can you tell who the author is? Are they a known authority on the subject?
- Is the author the same person as the 'webmaster'?
- Is there a 'sponsor' to the site?

What

- Is the content of the site for educational/informational value, or entertainment?
- If the content is one-sided, it might not be balanced.
- Can you verify accuracy?
- Can you find a lot of content (depth) or just a little information?
- Do the links support the content of the page?

When

- When was the site created?
- When was the last time it was updated?
- Do they provide this information?

Where

- Where does the site ‘live?’ This means that we have to look at the address and see what information we get there.

Let’s look at an address:

<http://www.tamu.edu/pvamu/library/>

This is the URL: Uniform Resource Locator. It tells the search engine where to ‘locate’ the page.

“http” = Hyper Text Transfer Protocol. This simply tells you how this page talks to your computer. There are others, but you will rarely run into them.

“www” = World Wide Web. This is the part on the Internet the page lives on. Have you noticed that not all pages need or have the “www” in them?

“tamu.edu” = Texas A&M University. This tells you where the page came from. The little “edu” is called a domain. Others you may find are:

gov = United States government site

mil = United States military site

edu = accredited post secondary educational institution

com = commercial for-profit entity

org = noncommercial not-for-profit entity

net = computer network

int = international organization

jp, ru, ca, uk, au, etc = country identifiers

“pvamu” = Prairie View A&M University. That’s us! This stands for the Internet file that belongs to the entire university.

“library” = this is that part of the larger University file that belongs to the Library- this is also called our homepage.

- Is there a squiggly line: “~” (called a ‘tilde’) in the URL? This is a warning sign!
 - Is there a personal name in the URL? This is also a warning sign!
- Example: www.everwonder.com/david/frogs/

Why

- Why is this site here? Are they selling you something? Or informing you? Or trying to persuade you?
- Is this site appropriate for the audience?
- Is this the best information source for this topic?
- How can you determine this?

How

- How does the site look overall - clean and easy to read, or cluttered?
- Is the spelling correct? Grammar?
- Does the site look organized?
- Are there a lot of advertisements or pop-up ads? This is not a good sign!
- Is it easy to use?
- Does it load quickly?
- If there are links, do they all work, or do some lead to a dead end? A good site should have updated, working links.

Other issues to be aware of:

- Shorter URLs tend to be more reliable. This is what some librarians have called an example of a 'garbage' URL as it has unneeded junk:

http://www.kohls.com/products/product_page_vanilla2.jsp?PRODUCT%3C%3Eprd_id=111040049

- If you have a long URL, you can 'crop' it to the homepage. Remember the domain? In the URL above, the homepage is: <http://www.kohls.com>
- Does the site require plugins or other special software? This might not be good.
- Is the site free?
- Do you have to submit a password or create an account?
- A site with quality links should give you the URL as a link, and not just hide it under a linked word like that. If you clicked on that word, where would it take you? How would you know?
